POINCARE GIVES HIS PLAN OF A NEW CONFERENCE

SENDS NOTE TO ENGLAND SAYING FRENCH EXPERTS WILL DRAFT PROGRAM

FRENCH NOTE SUBMITTED FOR APPROVAL BY ENGLAND AND THEN SENT TO U. S.

(By United Press)

Paris, Nov. 7.—Premier Poincare has sent a note to England saying French experts will draft a program for the proposed conference to discuss Germany's capacity to pay reparations, it was reported in well informed circles today.

The French program will be submitted to England for approval before being sent to Washington as an invitation to the United States to participate in the conference, according to the report.

It was reported today that Premier Poincare's fresh instructions to Ambassador Jusserand in Washington explain that the proposed conference of experts may examine the questions of the Ruhr and Germany's resources but cannot pass judgment on French action in occupying the traditional German territory.

France will also refuse to allow discussion of the contracts recently made between herself and German interests, and will not consider discussion of Germany's capacity to pay until the time when she feels it is impossible to evaluate this capacity with a fair degree of accuracy.

General Maginot, minister of war, departed today for Dusseldorf presumably in connection with Poincare's new demand that Germany permit the inter-allied military control commission to resume their work including determination of whether or not Germany has more than 100,000 armed men allowed by the treaty of Versailles.

CONCESSIONS ON ALL SIDES FORECAST

Washington, Nov. 7.—Sufficient concessions will be made on both sides to permit an agreement between the United States, France and the other allies on a basis for the proposed joint conference to examine into Germany's capacity to pay reparations, it was believed in well informed official and diplomatic quarters here today.

INDICTMENT AGAINST BANK OFFICER FAULTY

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—The Swift county court indictment against F. J. McCullough, Danvers' state bank official is faulty.

This is the decision of the state supreme court handed down today. McCullough was accused of embezzling eight government bonds owned by Andrew Lye. The lower court disallowed McCullough's demurrer to the indictment but sent the case to the supreme court.

The matter now returns to the Swift county court for hearing on a new indictment or dismissal of the case.

MINNESOTA BOOSTERS MASSING FOR FORD

St. Cloud, Nov. 7.—Minnesota boosters for Henry Ford for president will not wait for word from the auto manufacturer but will organize some time this month, George P. Jones said today.

Plans for a state wide conference of Ford boosters to form a club in Minnesota are going forward, he said. A conference will be called in the Twin Cities later in November. Some delay has been occasioned by a desire to await completion of plans for a national Ford conference to be held in Detroit or Cleveland in December. It is planned to send a Minnesota delegation to such a conference, but no definite date has yet been set. The tentative date is December 12th, according to word received here.

GOV. PREUS CALLS PROHIBITION LAW ENFORCEMENT MEET

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—Governor Preus today issued his expected formal call for a prohibition law enforcement conference.

It will be held in the house chamber of the state capitol, Dec. 17 and 18.

The attorney general, U. S. district attorney, all county attorneys in the state, all sheriffs, mayors, chiefs of police and the state commissioner of education are invited to attend.

The call, the governor said, is made in conformity with the program outlined by President Coolidge's conference of governors a few weeks ago.

"The calling of the conference," Governor Preus said, "was suggested some time before the conference of governors, by F. B. Qvale, state enforcement officer.

"I issued the call today following a conference with him yesterday."

Qvale will have charge of the program and arrangements.

LADY LEFT $175,000; UNKNOWN PARENT

WEALTH DROPS OUT OF CLEAR SKY FOR WIFE OF POOR WISCONSIN FARMER

Elkhorn, Wis., Nov. 7.—Wealth dropped out of a clear sky yesterday for Mrs. William Baker, wife of a poor farmer living near here, when she was notified she will receive $175,000 from the estate of George Youngs, a Chicagoan.

Mrs. Baker's mother died at her birth, and her father, then poor and unable to care for the child, allowed her to be adopted by an Elkhorn family named Manning.

The girl grew up in the home of the Mannings, and 12 years ago was married to William Baker.

In the meantime, Youngs, her father, had wandered far and finally made a fortune, returning to Chicago. He sought to trace his daughter and some time ago sent his son, her brother, to Elkhorn to find her.

Then Mrs. Baker, who had grown up ignorant of the facts concerning her birth and believing she was a member of the Manning family, refused to believe she was adopted, and sent the investigator away.

Proof of her identity was apparently obtained, however, as she was notified by a New York attorney that $175,000, her share of the estate, is waiting for her.

BOARD AIDS RURAL CREDITS BUREAU

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—The state board of investments today came to the aid of the rural credits bureau.

It loaned the bureau $1,000,000 at 4½ per cent interest.

The bureau has been unable to dispose of its bonds on the market at this rate and this has resulted in delay on making loans to farmers.

Bureau loans at 5¼ per cent and a three-fourths per cent margin is necessary to cover the administrative expense.

If the money was not obtained at four and one-half per cent an increase in rates to the farmers would be necessary.

This money, O. T. Ofsthon, secretary of the bureau said today, will enable the bureau to tide over the low bond prices until a time when the bureau's bonds can be sold at a figure at which the bureau could break even.

The rate now demanded on the bureau's bonds in the market is five per cent.

Ofsthon announced there are now applications before the bureau for loans totaling $28,000,000. Not all of these will be granted, he said, and the total will probably melt to about $18,000,000 after some have been totally refused and others have been cut down.

TRICK "CLEANER" FOR ALCOHOL RUB JUST SALT WATER

SOLD BY BREWING COMPANY EMPLOYES FOR $4 TO $7.50 A HALF PINT

U. S. DRY CHIEF MAKES SUCH STATEMENT, EVIDENCE SENT TO WASHINGTON

Minneapolis, Nov. 7.—Analysis of the chemical "cleaner" alleged to have been sold by an employee of the Minneapolis Brewing company to persons purchasing "Vigetone," an alcohol rub manufactured by the brewing company, and which was claimed to make the rub fit for beverage purposes, revealed it was nothing but "fancy salt water," H. L. Duncan, divisional prohibition chief, said today.

"The analysis shows that sodium phosphate and sodium carbonate were used in the 'cleaner.' " Mr. Duncan said. "The real trick was in the instructions that went with the 'cleaner,' which told the degree at which the preparation was to be boiled after the 'cleaner' was put in. Benzol used in the preparation boils at a lower degree than alcohol, and this was the way the benzol was removed. The 'cleaner' was of little value, but our agents bought it from $7.50 down to $4 a half pint."

All information gathered by federal agents investigating an alleged conspiracy by brewery employes and others to sell the alcohol rub and "cleaner" in wholesale lots was forwarded to Washington today with recommendations for action.

EVELETH MAYOR, NEARLY OUSTED, IS RE-ELECTED

(By United Press)

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 7.—Mayor Victor E. Essling whom Governor Preus sought to oust from office was re-elected Tuesday by a plurality of 409.

Mayor Essling won in a court fight in which the governor's action was reversed. He was charged by the governor with malfeasance and nonfeasance in office in connection with expenditure of public money for athletics.

The supreme court ruled the governor had no authority to oust Essling since the moneys he handled were city funds.

KILLS HIMSELF WITH DYNAMITE

INDIAN CHARGED WITH MURDER EVADES AUTHORITIES IN THE END

(By United Press)

Lethbridge, Albert, Nov. 7.—Joe Blackhorse, Indian, charged with the murder of pretty Winnie Tollerstrup, mutilated himself with a charge of dynamite and died in a hospital here today.

Blackhorse was hunted by scores of police and citizens after the brutal slaying of the school girl was discovered Saturday.

He was found near his coal mine with part of his head blown away by a dynamite explosion. He could make no statement since part of his tongue was blown away by the blast. Provincial police convinced themselves the Indian had set off the charge in an attempt to destroy himself.

Circumstances showed that Blackhorse had attacked the little school girl at her farm home, choked her to death and partially burned her body in a straw stack.

HARDING ASKED COL. FORBES TO RESIGN, SAID GEN. SAWYER

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 7.—Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, personal physician to President Harding, told the senate committee investigating the veterans bureau that President Harding asked Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, to resign as a result of the sale of supplies at Perryville, Md.

Dr. Sawyer denounced the sale and declared Forbes had continued shipments after President Harding had ordered them stopped. For this disobedience Dr. Sawyer said Forbes was asked to resign.

Dr. Sawyer said that when he learned of the sale of surplus supplies he had registered emphatic protest and had referred the sale to President Harding.

DRIVES INTO DITCH AND IS KILLED

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 7. — John Riendquist, 24, laborer on a farm near here, was killed instantly last night when his automobile upset in the outskirts of the city. Riendquist was going out to a farm to collect his wages and the car running with poor lights went into a ditch. The driver was seriously injured and was taken to St. Vincent's hospital.

The coroner is making an effort to locate Riendquist's father in Outlook, Montana, and a brother in Fergus Falls, Minn.

PIT, THOUGHT MODEL OF MINE CONSTRUCTION, WAS VIRTUALLY SEALED

(By United Press)

Glen Rogers, W. Va., Nov. 7—Two more bodies were taken from the wreckage of the Raleigh Wyoming Coal company's mine here during the night, bringing the total dead in yesterday's explosion to 27.

The pit, supposedly a model of coal mine construction, was virtually sealed, tons of coal, slate and rock blocking the entrance after the explosion.

A check up made by mine officials today while this little mining town arranged for burying its dead, showed that 63 men went down the mine shaft yesterday morning before the blast. Thirty-six escaped with only slight injuries.

The men who perished were believed to have been in a separate compartment of the mine, near where the pocket of accumulated gas let go.

An eye witness account of the disaster, therefore, probably will never be given.

Most of the men who lost their lives in the blast were married. Two weeks ago Mrs. Joe Gurah and six children arrived here from Poland to join their husband and father who had left home several months ago to seek employment in America. Yesterday Joe Gurah was killed in the explosion.

Privations more acute than those that have been suffered as the result of the irregular operation of the mine, now confront the women and children of those who yesterday made their last trip into the shaft.

State officials headed by Governor E. F. Morgan arrived here last night and shortly thereafter the last three dead were brought into the flickering light of an oil torch which guided the rescue workers in their journey through the rock and slate.

Definite plans for burying the dead had not been completed early today. Two of the victims were residents of Beckley, near here, and they probably will be buried in their home towns. There was some talk today of a joint funeral for the other twenty-five.

3 DAY HURRICANE SWEEPS DENMARK

30 FISHING SHIPS FEARED LOST IN NORTH SEA STORM—DIKES DESTROYED

Copenhagen, Nov. 7.—A traditional November hurricane has raged for the last three days over Denmark and the North sea.

Every November heavy storms claim the lives of fishermen along Jutland and the west coast.

The heavy seas destroy dikes, meadows and fields. This year's hurricane was worse than usual, destroying dikes replaced after October's storms.

It is feared that 30 fishing boats have been lost in the North sea since Saturday night.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES ALAMEDA NAVAL BASE

Washington, Nov. 7.—Proposals for the new naval base at Alameda, Calif., are regarded by President Coolidge as likely to involve unwarranted expenditures in view of the defensive power of the present base at Mare Island, and also is likely to violate the spirit of the naval defense reduction policy embarked upon at the arms conference.

WEIRD TALE OF GIRL CHARGES SHOCKING TREATMENT BY LOVER

(By United Press)

Cleveland, Nov. 7—How she was taken from an automobile and into a store room at a factory, had her clothes stripped from her and then forced to stand while her jilted lover slashed his name across her body with a knife, was told by Miss Marie Sankee, 19 years old, to Miss Antoinette Callaghan, chief woman probation officer, today.

James C. Wild, 23 years old, held for statutory offense, was bound over to the grand jury on $2,000 bail.

The girl testified that she met Wild about six months ago and that he became too ardent and was jealous. She told him all was off between them, but he pleaded for one last auto ride. It was on this ride she claims that he slashed and tatooed his name on her body.

"If I can't have you I will fix you so no one else can. I will put my brand on you, and you will carry it to the grave," Miss Sankee testified Wild said.

The alleged mistreatment occurred Hallowe'en night.

SOME "OFF YEAR" ELECTION FIGURES

SUMMARY SHOWS 1924 MAY BE ANYBODY'S VICTORY

(By United Press)
LAWRENCE MARTIN
(Copyright 1923 by United Press)

Washington, Nov. 7.—Election results in "off year" contests in thirteen states showed clearly today that neither the republicans nor the democrats could claim any great reversal in form shown in the last general election.

There was, however, more encouragement for the democrats than the republicans although both parties could claim with entire justification that no accurate appraisal of the national trend could be passed on yesterday's voting.

The democrats who in the last congressional election wiped out the huge republican majority registered in 1920, appeared today to be holding the gain in 1922, generally speaking. They made one notable gain when they elected a democratic governor in Kentucky, a state that went republican as to state officers and one United States senator in 1920.

Smith's Set-back in New York

Nowhere were democratic pre-election observations disappointed yesterday where there was a basis for such hopes except possibly in New York state where Governor Al Smith's forces hoped to capture control of the state assembly. They suffered a decided setback, the republicans capturing five seats lost last election. This was a set-back for Smith, but such are the mutations of New York politics that it cannot be called very significant.

Ku Klux Klan

The Ku Klux Klan's sweeping victory in the Ohio city elections was causing most comment among political leaders here today.

Taken in connection with other developments, it seemed to point to the interests of the klan and to state and national politics in 1924 to a degree that will embarrass many candidates.

Drys Apparently Win in New Jersey

There was little indication in the scattered contest in the lineup on prohibition. The drys won in New Jersey apparently, and they may bring former Senator Joe Frelinghuysen to the front as republican leader thereby supplanting Senator Walter Edge who has moist leanings. The wets won in Maryland as everybody expected they would because Governor Ritchie who was re-elected is a popular governor aside from his views on prohibition.

In Coolidge's State

The margin by which President Coolidge's native state, Vermont, returned republicans to the senate seat left vacant by Senator Dillingham's death and the house vacancy caused by Porter Dale's senatorial candidacy, was impressive enough to show that Mr. Coolidge was in no danger there of the psychological repudiation which the democrats sought to inflict upon him.

Anybody's Fight in 1924

But the returns yesterday simply whetted the appetites of both republican and democratic leaders for renewal of the eternal struggle. While statements will issue today from both party headquarters here claiming important gains, the voting if it showed anything, showed that 1924 is anybody's fight and anybody's victory right now.

WILL ALSO TAKE UP QUESTION OF DEMIJOHN PRICE

MAJORITY OF MORE THAN 25,000 AT ELECTION DEMANDED CHANGE IN LIQUOR ACT

BEER MAY BE CONSUMED ON LICENSED PREMISES AND IN PRIVATE RESIDENCES

(By United Press)

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 7.—The legislature will decide the price of Alberta's stein and demijohn before Christmas.

It may be late in January before the liquor act authorized by a plebiscite movement becomes operative.

A majortiy of more than 25,000 demanded a change in the liquor act which will permit:

"Beer to be consumed on licensed premises and in private residences; wine and beer to be purchasd in limited quantities under permits issued by the government under government control and regulations."

So read the clause voted upon at Monday's election. It leaves much to the legislature. A session of the house will be called, Premier Greenfield indicated, but this probably will not take place until the midle of December.

Necessary machinery probably will not be in motion until a month or so after the session is called. Leaders of the moderation league already are discussing provisions of the act to be submitted to the law makers.

The legislature will fix the costs of liquor that may be purchased under permits and will set up regulations governing places to sell it.

General satisfaction is expressed in all quarters a a result of the plebiscite and there seems to be an almost unanimous determination to back up whatever legislation is placed upon the books.

DECLARE WAR ON SIOUX CITY LIVE STOCK EXCHANGE

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—State officials today declared war on the Sioux City live stock exchange.

Ivan Bowen, chairman of the state railroad and warehouse commission issued a statement urging all shippers especially those in the southern part of the state where they are handy to Sioux City to ignore that market and ship to St. Paul.

This is the result of the interstate commerce commission's order announced yesterday which prohibits railroads from giving return transportation to shippers who send carloads of livestock to St. Paul.

This action was taken at the request of the Sioux City exchange which charged unfair competition in the southern Minnesota district which is as close to Sioux City as St. Paul. If the Sioux City charge is successful, Bowen warned, it will soon be asking further concessions which will cost Minnesota shippers still more money.

PIT, THOUGHT MODEL OF MINE CONSTRUCTION, WAS VIRTUALLY SEALED

(By United Press)

Glen Rogers, W. Va., Nov. 7—Two more bodies were taken from the wreckage of the Raleigh Wyoming Coal company's mine here during the night, bringing the total dead in yesterday's explosion to 27.

The pit, supposedly a model of coal mine construction, was virtually sealed, tons of coal, slate and rock blocking the entrance after the explosion.

A check up made by mine officials today while this little mining town arranged for burying its dead, showed that 63 men went down the mine shaft yesterday morning before the blast. Thirty-six escaped with only slight injuries.

The men who perished were believed to have been in a separate compartment of the mine, near where the pocket of accumulated gas let go.

An eye witness account of the disaster, therefore, probably will never be given.

Most of the men who lost their lives in the blast were married. Two weeks ago Mrs. Joe Gurah and six children arrived here from Poland to join their husband and father who had left home several months ago to seek employment in America. Yesterday Joe Gurah was killed in the explosion.

Privations more acute than those that have been suffered as the result of the irregular operation of the mine, now confront the women and children of those who yesterday made their last trip into the shaft.

State officials headed by Governor E. F. Morgan arrived here last night and shortly thereafter the last three dead were brought into the flickering light of an oil torch which guided the rescue workers in their journey through the rock and slate.

Definite plans for burying the dead had not been completed early today. Two of the victims were residents of Beckley, near here, and they probably will be buried in their home towns. There was some talk today of a joint funeral for the other twenty-five.

3 DAY HURRICANE SWEEPS DENMARK

30 FISHING SHIPS FEARED LOST IN NORTH SEA STORM—DIKES DESTROYED

Copenhagen, Nov. 7.—A traditional November hurricane has raged for the last three days over Denmark and the North sea.

Every November heavy storms claim the lives of fishermen along Jutland and the west coast.

The heavy seas destroy dikes, meadows and fields. This year's hurricane was worse than usual, destroying dikes replaced after October's storms.

It is feared that 30 fishing boats have been lost in the North sea since Saturday night.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES ALAMEDA NAVAL BASE

Washington, Nov. 7.—Proposals for the new naval base at Alameda, Calif., are regarded by President Coolidge as likely to involve unwarranted expenditures in view of the defensive power of the present base at Mare Island, and also is likely to violate the spirit of the naval defense reduction policy embarked upon at the arms conference.

WEIRD TALE OF GIRL CHARGES SHOCKING TREATMENT BY LOVER

(By United Press)

Cleveland, Nov. 7—How she was taken from an automobile and into a store room at a factory, had her clothes stripped from her and then forced to stand while her jilted lover slashed his name across her body with a knife, was told by Miss Marie Sankee, 19 years old, to Miss Antoinette Callaghan, chief woman probation officer, today.

James C. Wild, 23 years old, held for statutory offense, was bound over to the grand jury on $2,000 bail.

The girl testified that she met Wild about six months ago and that he became too ardent and was jealous. She told him all was off between them, but he pleaded for one last auto ride. It was on this ride she claims that he slashed and tatooed his name on her body.

"If I can't have you I will fix you so no one else can. I will put my brand on you, and you will carry it to the grave," Miss Sankee testified Wild said.

The alleged mistreatment occurred Hallowe'en night.

SOME "OFF YEAR" ELECTION FIGURES

SUMMARY SHOWS 1924 MAY BE ANYBODY'S VICTORY

(By United Press)
LAWRENCE MARTIN
(Copyright 1923 by United Press)

Washington, Nov. 7.—Election results in "off year" contests in thirteen states showed clearly today that neither the republicans nor the democrats could claim any great reversal in form shown in the last general election.

There was, however, more encouragement for the democrats than the republicans although both parties could claim with entire justification that no accurate appraisal of the national trend could be passed on yesterday's voting.

The democrats who in the last congressional election wiped out the huge republican majority registered in 1920, appeared today to be holding the gain in 1922, generally speaking. They made one notable gain when they elected a democratic governor in Kentucky, a state that went republican as to state officers and one United States senator in 1920.

Smith's Set-back in New York

Nowhere were democratic pre-election observations disappointed yesterday where there was a basis for such hopes except possibly in New York state where Governor Al Smith's forces hoped to capture control of the state assembly. They suffered a decided setback, the republicans capturing five seats lost last election. This was a set-back for Smith, but such are the mutations of New York politics that it cannot be called very significant.

Ku Klux Klan

The Ku Klux Klan's sweeping victory in the Ohio city elections was causing most comment among political leaders here today.

Taken in connection with other developments, it seemed to point to the interests of the klan and to state and national politics in 1924 to a degree that will embarrass many candidates.

Drys Apparently Win in New Jersey

There was little indication in the scattered contest in the lineup on prohibition. The drys won in New Jersey apparently, and they may bring former Senator Joe Frelinghuysen to the front as republican leader thereby supplanting Senator Walter Edge who has moist leanings. The wets won in Maryland as everybody expected they would because Governor Ritchie who was re-elected is a popular governor aside from his views on prohibition.

In Coolidge's State

The margin by which President Coolidge's native state, Vermont, returned republicans to the senate seat left vacant by Senator Dillingham's death and the house vacancy caused by Porter Dale's senatorial candidacy, was impressive enough to show that Mr. Coolidge was in no danger there of the psychological repudiation which the democrats sought to inflict upon him.

Anybody's Fight in 1924

But the returns yesterday simply whetted the appetites of both republican and democratic leaders for renewal of the eternal struggle. While statements will issue today from both party headquarters here claiming important gains, the voting if it showed anything, showed that 1924 is anybody's fight and anybody's victory right now.

WILL ALSO TAKE UP QUESTION OF DEMIJOHN PRICE

MAJORITY OF MORE THAN 25,000 AT ELECTION DEMANDED CHANGE IN LIQUOR ACT

BEER MAY BE CONSUMED ON LICENSED PREMISES AND IN PRIVATE RESIDENCES

(By United Press)

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 7.—The legislature will decide the price of Alberta's stein and demijohn before Christmas.

It may be late in January before the liquor act authorized by a plebiscite movement becomes operative.

A majortiy of more than 25,000 demanded a change in the liquor act which will permit:

"Beer to be consumed on licensed premises and in private residences; wine and beer to be purchasd in limited quantities under permits issued by the government under government control and regulations."

So read the clause voted upon at Monday's election. It leaves much to the legislature. A session of the house will be called, Premier Greenfield indicated, but this probably will not take place until the midle of December.

Necessary machinery probably will not be in motion until a month or so after the session is called. Leaders of the moderation league already are discussing provisions of the act to be submitted to the law makers.

The legislature will fix the costs of liquor that may be purchased under permits and will set up regulations governing places to sell it.

General satisfaction is expressed in all quarters a a result of the plebiscite and there seems to be an almost unanimous determination to back up whatever legislation is placed upon the books.

DECLARE WAR ON SIOUX CITY LIVE STOCK EXCHANGE

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—State officials today declared war on the Sioux City live stock exchange.

Ivan Bowen, chairman of the state railroad and warehouse commission issued a statement urging all shippers especially those in the southern part of the state where they are handy to Sioux City to ignore that market and ship to St. Paul.

This is the result of the interstate commerce commission's order announced yesterday which prohibits railroads from giving return transportation to shippers who send carloads of livestock to St. Paul.

This action was taken at the request of the Sioux City exchange which charged unfair competition in the southern Minnesota district which is as close to Sioux City as St. Paul. If the Sioux City charge is successful, Bowen warned, it will soon be asking further concessions which will cost Minnesota shippers still more money.

New York, Nov. 7.—A Broad Street brokerage concern has announced the placing of a large bet at odds of 1 to 10½ that Henry Ford will be the next president of the United States. The manufacturer's backer placed $38,000, in the form of an insurance policy, on his favorite, thus standing to win $400,000 if his prediction comes true.

The Hike-Rally

In spite of uncertain weather, school being closed in many departments, and other things that made it hard to get the crowd together, we sure had a wonderful time out at old Camp Pug-O-Na-Ge-Shig last Saturday. The crowd was not as big as it could, or should, have been, but the spirit was there and everyone had the best kind of a time. Troops 1, 3, 4 and 5 of Brainerd were represented and 14 came over from Deerwood Troop 1, and Brainerd No. 3 and the Deerwood troop had better than 60% out so they got credit for a November hike on the monthly inspection. In the relay race the Storm brothers (rain and hail) of Troop 3 won easily and were selected as the "hares" to run with "Big Chief Of The Trail" in the afternoon "hare and hound race"—which they lost.

In the javelin throw the Deerwood scouts put it all over the Brainerd bunch, McCarvell, Peterson and Hilyar being the winners. In the Treasure Hunt the eyesight of most everyone seemed to be too weak to find the treasurs, only the small ones being found—such as extra "hot dogs" and apples—the main treasures had to be shown up by the Chief

A huge bonfire was set off in the evening and some good old camp songs were sung before departing, with everybody satisfied that it was the "end of a perfect day."

Civic Good Turns

Two assignments are on for the Brainerd scouts this week, this afternoon all uniformed scouts assisted in the Citizenship program at the Court House when 34 men and women became naturalized citizens of the United States, the scouts assisting in ushering and in serving the lunch which was furnished to the newly made citizens by the Scout Council.

On Sunday at 12:10 P. M. (noon) the uniformed scouts will act as ushers for the Armistice Day program put on at the Park theatre by the American Legion of Brainerd.

Roosevelt Pilgrimage

The Sunday edition of the Minneapolis Tribune carried a picture of the pilgrimage led by "Uncle" Dan Beard, National Scout Commissioner, to the tomb of our Chief Scout Citizen, Theodore Roosevelt. The picture showed "Uncle" Dan, a number of the "Buckskin Men"—from the Campfire Club of which Roosevelt was a member—and part of the 1500 scouts that come from all parts of the Eastern states for the annual tribute to Roosevelt, their friend, on the anniversary of his birth. The Roosevelt Day program planned for local scouts on Oct. 27th was cancelled on account of the continuous rain of Friday and Saturday.

Patrol Leaders Training Program

A conference of Patrol Leaders, and those interested in patrol leadership, will be held in the Scout Office on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 13th, at 4:15 This will be in line with the training program that is to be put on for Leadership training during the winter, and those who wish to register should be at this meeting. All Patrol Leaders now in active service will be expected to take this work if they wish to hold their present positions.

Uniforms and Equipment

All scouts who wish to purchase any uniform parts or equipment should consult the Scout Executive before doing so. We wish to standardize the uniform for the local council, and to limit certain equipment to comply with other standards as adopted by the Executive Board of the Council. The new supply catalog is here, copies for your use are to be found on the reading table at the office, and we are in a position to give all scouts quick service on anything they may want. Scout parents who may wish to give scout equipment, or articles made for scouts, for Xmas gifts should phone or call on the Scout Executive as early as possible so that these may be ordered in time for Xmas.

Orders can be placed now and the goods paid for on arrival. Phone 17-J.

Subscriptions For Boy's Life

A number of subscriptions have been turned in for Boy's Life, but not as many as we wanted to see. Each subscription carries a commission of 25 cents to the scout who gets the order, and an additional 25 cents will be turned over to the treasurer of your troop for troop use. Points are also given on the Patrol Contest. Remember our goal is 150 subscribers for Crow Wing county by Jan. 1st. If you haven't any subscription blanks call at the Scout office and get some—then use them.

THE RAGGYLUG DEN
Where Boy Scouts Meet

Well, fellows, how do you stack up today? I see all of the old "regulars" are out as usual. Well, these chilly evenings will surely show "who is who" in Scouting, and regular scouts don't care much about "parlor" scouts anyway. Righto? Yea, Bo! The regular fellows are always on hand and ready to do their bit to help their patrol and troop, rain or shine. Speaking about rain, look at those black clouds coming this way. Looks as though someone was going to get wet and that mighty soon if we don't get under cover. Lets hit this trail down to the old log cabin in the clearing and avoid a soaking. Just in time, say, that did come in a hurry.

Who is going to win in the contest, did you say Jim? Well, that is hard to say with only the first "lap" of the race run off. Did you see the list? Well the Panthers of troop 4 are in the lead now, with the Pine Tree and Eagle patrols of troop 5 in second and third place, and——. What did you say Billy? Tell how

BRAINERD'S EVENING CLASSES

A GOOD deal of discussion has taken place within the past few weeks relative to the possibility of establishing an evening school in Brainerd. The object considered is a good one and the various methods mentioned have had merit. To enlist the services of the University of Minnesota so that a course of real merit may be secured is the purpose of some who are intent upon promoting the educational interests of people in this city. Suggestions that the local school board might cooperate have been offered, but at present, with the new work entailed through caring for the government's educational program for ex-service men, the school board has a task that calls for the expenditure of a vast amount of time and effort. Until that work has been thoroughly organized the board will not be able to take over additional burdens. This new work demands careful and well-directed effort and until it is brought to the point where its needs have been properly appraised and its details systematized the board has no time to devote to other and new programs.

Whatever is done in this line should be done in cooperation with Brainerd's Commercial College. This institution has had a struggle for its life and had it not been for the thoughtfulness of certain of Brainerd's citizens, who got behind it at a time when its future was uncertain, it is probable that this college would have ceased to exist. Therefore, by cooperating with the college, those citizens interested in meeting the educational needs of those who wish to devote their evenings to study may do something to increase interest in the college.

It is unlikely that the college itself has at this time the faculty needed to supply the needs of those interested in the various subjects that might be chosen but it can offer instruction in commercial courses and it may be able to introduce courses which are not at this time within its curriculum. What it could not supply might be supplied by the University and the classes could be held within its walls thus increasing the interest of local people, already interested in education, by bringing them into touch with its work.

An institution which is already in existence should have the whole-hearted support of those who believe in offering an educational opportunity to young people of Brainerd and the surrounding territory who might find it hard to secure such advantages if they were required to go far from home to find a school. Those who have nobly backed the school during a time when its future seemed uncertain are worthy of recognition and their effort to retain this institution has been such, that others, who share the belief that it is a worth-while institution, may be expected to assist it in every possible way.

At present it appears that it might be possible to add something to the prestige of the school and to the interest that is taken in its work by cooperating with its faculty in working out a program for the winter months and by turning whatever courses may be decided upon over to the school at least to the extent of using its accommodations for the classes.

THE UNITED STATE AND THE REST OF THE WORLD

GLENN FRANK, editor of the Century Magazine, speaking to the students of the University of Minnesota, in convocation, said, among other things, "To the business man, the issues of world peace and social coherence are as fundamental as the costs of production."

This is the selfish side of the matter. In our age of developed industrialism the issues of life are more and more seen in relation to their effect upon industrialism. What interferes with the steady advance of industrialism is removed when industrialists and those employed in industrial pursuits have seen that it so interferes.

This will be seen in the attitude of America to Europe before many months have past. For some time the appeal to the American people was based on idealism, cooperation with Europe ought to be because it is right, because it is ethically right and religiously right. That appeal has been left behind. We are so related to Europe that when Europe suffers our Northwestern farmers suffer, and in time our workers in industrial plants will suffer. If European conditions affect the American farmer his inability to buy will in time affect the manufacturing plants in the country, and so the inter-relations of life and peoples become clear.

If not for an ideal, if not because it is right, then, perhaps, because it is good business the American people will demand that their government take its place with other governments in attempting to find solutions for world problems, and he who would seek to prevent such an expression of desire on the part of the people, by appealing to racial and other prejudices, is fighting against life itself, and though the evil he is doing may not appear today, when a selfish policy may seem to be profitable, it will show up tomorrow and the day after.

As well argue that the home should not cooperate with the community, the community with the state or the state with the nation as to argue that the nation should not cooperate with other nations. The home may withdraw, the community may withdraw, the state may withdraw, but they do so to their own disadvantage, leaving the decisions to others whose decisions may be very much disliked but nevertheless must be accepted.

THE mark has left its mark upon investors in this and other countries. But while this is true, and it's an awful shame, those who invested in the paper hoped to get a lot out of it at the expense of Germany.

LIEUTENANT HAROLD J. BROW flew at a speed of 274 miles an hour, which is going some. He went so fast that the navy has ordered that this record stand. Other attempts at a record are prohibited. It's fast enough.

THE month that brings Thanksgiving is already slipping along, and the good things to eat are bought so cheaply that everybody can rejoice except the fellow who raises them.

WHILE America is getting dryer Canada is getting wetter. Alberta is another province to go back to the old days of pre-war joviality.

Truck Chassis

$370 f.o.b. Detroit

Flare board body type, ideal for packers, plumbers and others handling heavy merchandise. Body types to meet every hauling requirement can be supplied.

A dividend-paying business utility—a title the Ford One-Ton Truck has earned for itself through years of reliable service in diversified lines.

Powered by the famous Ford Model T engine through the Ford planetary transmission and special Ford worm gear, it brings to the business man for his delivery service the abundant power, reliable operation, and real economy for which the Ford product is notable everywhere.

It carries its load day in and day out with a minimum of attention. Its ease of handling adapts it for use in the limited areas about loading docks, warehouses and construction locations.

Giving rapid, dependable hauling service at low initial cost, and at the lowest possible expense for operation and upkeep, it pays the highest dividends on the investment of any motor transportation equipment available to the business world.

BRAINERD'S EVENING CLASSES

A GOOD deal of discussion has taken place within the past few weeks relative to the possibility of establishing an evening school in Brainerd. The object considered is a good one and the various methods mentioned have had merit. To enlist the services of the University of Minnesota so that a course of real merit may be secured is the purpose of some who are intent upon promoting the educational interests of people in this city. Suggestions that the local school board might cooperate have been offered, but at present, with the new work entailed through caring for the government's educational program for ex-service men, the school board has a task that calls for the expenditure of a vast amount of time and effort. Until that work has been thoroughly organized the board will not be able to take over additional burdens. This new work demands careful and well-directed effort and until it is brought to the point where its needs have been properly appraised and its details systematized the board has no time to devote to other and new programs.

Whatever is done in this line should be done in cooperation with Brainerd's Commercial College. This institution has had a struggle for its life and had it not been for the thoughtfulness of certain of Brainerd's citizens, who got behind it at a time when its future was uncertain, it is probable that this college would have ceased to exist. Therefore, by cooperating with the college, those citizens interested in meeting the educational needs of those who wish to devote their evenings to study may do something to increase interest in the college.

It is unlikely that the college itself has at this time the faculty needed to supply the needs of those interested in the various subjects that might be chosen but it can offer instruction in commercial courses and it may be able to introduce courses which are not at this time within its curriculum. What it could not supply might be supplied by the University and the classes could be held within its walls thus increasing the interest of local people, already interested in education, by bringing them into touch with its work.

An institution which is already in existence should have the whole-hearted support of those who believe in offering an educational opportunity to young people of Brainerd and the surrounding territory who might find it hard to secure such advantages if they were required to go far from home to find a school. Those who have nobly backed the school during a time when its future seemed uncertain are worthy of recognition and their effort to retain this institution has been such, that others, who share the belief that it is a worth-while institution, may be expected to assist it in every possible way.

At present it appears that it might be possible to add something to the prestige of the school and to the interest that is taken in its work by cooperating with its faculty in working out a program for the winter months and by turning whatever courses may be decided upon over to the school at least to the extent of using its accommodations for the classes.

GLENN FRANK, editor of the Century Magazine, speaking to the students of the University of Minnesota, in convocation, said, among other things, "To the business man, the issues of world peace and social coherence are as fundamental as the costs of production."

This is the selfish side of the matter. In our age of developed industrialism the issues of life are more and more seen in relation to their effect upon industrialism. What interferes with the steady advance of industrialism is removed when industrialists and those employed in industrial pursuits have seen that it so interferes.

This will be seen in the attitude of America to Europe before many months have past. For some time the appeal to the American people was based on idealism, cooperation with Europe ought to be because it is right, because it is ethically right and religiously right. That appeal has been left behind. We are so related to Europe that when Europe suffers our Northwestern farmers suffer, and in time our workers in industrial plants will suffer. If European conditions affect the American farmer his inability to buy will in time affect the manufacturing plants in the country, and so the inter-relations of life and peoples become clear.

If not for an ideal, if not because it is right, then, perhaps, because it is good business the American people will demand that their government take its place with other governments in attempting to find solutions for world problems, and he who would seek to prevent such an expression of desire on the part of the people, by appealing to racial and other prejudices, is fighting against life itself, and though the evil he is doing may not appear today, when a selfish policy may seem to be profitable, it will show up tomorrow and the day after.

As well argue that the home should not cooperate with the community, the community with the state or the state with the nation as to argue that the nation should not cooperate with other nations. The home may withdraw, the community may withdraw, the state may withdraw, but they do so to their own disadvantage, leaving the decisions to others whose decisions may be very much disliked but nevertheless must be accepted.

THE mark has left its mark upon investors in this and other countries. But while this is true, and it's an awful shame, those who invested in the paper hoped to get a lot out of it at the expense of Germany.

LIEUTENANT HAROLD J. BROW flew at a speed of 274 miles an hour, which is going some. He went so fast that the navy has ordered that this record stand. Other attempts at a record are prohibited. It's fast enough.

THE month that brings Thanksgiving is already slipping along, and the good things to eat are bought so cheaply that everybody can rejoice except the fellow who raises them.

WHILE America is getting dryer Canada is getting wetter. Alberta is another province to go back to the old days of pre-war joviality.

NOVEMBER TERM DISTRICT COURT

Opened Tuesday Morning With Judge W. S. McClenahan on the Bench

SPECIAL VENIRE GRAND JURY

Mrs. W. F. Dieckhaus is Appointed Foreman; Following Which Calender Call is Taken Up

The November term of the district court opened on Tuesday morning, with Judge W. S. McClenahan on the bench, and E. J. Egan court reporter.

The roll of the grand jury was called with all members present except J. J. Dullum, W. F. Stoughton, Fred Johnson, excused, and Harry Armstrong, George Brackner, out of the county, and Dick Sagli confined in a hospital. A special venire of six grand jurors was ordered and placed in the hands of the sheriff. This venire consisted of J. A. Gilmore, Wm. F. Rau, C. Bruhn, Fred Ellison, B. S. Armstrong and J. A. Peterson, the latter not being in the county, was stricken from the list. Mrs. W. F. Dieckhaus was appointed foreman of the jury.

The call of the calendar was next taken up. The case of Mal Clark, receiver, against D. B. McAlpine, was continued. The case of Charles Hanson against Florence H. Hanson, notice of motion.

The case of A. A. Wunderlich against Mike A. Voornas, the defendant moved for a physical examination. In the case of Arthur W. Compton against M., St. P. & S. Ste. Marie Ry., the defendant moved to strike from the calendar.

In the case of J. A. Berglund against Richard H. Lehman a motion was made for additional party defendant. In case of George H. O'Brien, administrator against Liberty Mining Co., case placed on the calendar on motion. The case of D. B. McAlpine against George H. O'Brien, administrator, was also placed on the calendar on motion.

Wednesday was naturalization day there being 34 applicants for citizenship. J. P. Greeley, of the St. Paul office, examined the applicants in the absence of R. K. Doe, who was unable to be present. The Boy Scout council assisted by the American Legion were in charge of the program of the day and the luncheon that followed the exercises.

On Thursday the petit jury cases will be taken up, the first being the case of Perry G. Flansburg against the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co., which will be followed by the case of Maude Mutch against John W. Anderson. In the first case M. E. and C. A. Ryan are the attorneys for the plaintiff, and Butler, Mitchell and Doherty for the defendant. In the second case, M. E. and C. A. Ryan are attorneys for the plaintiff and Mal Clark for the defense.

A list of the jurors will be published tomorrow.

Missionary Society

The Missionary society of the First Congregational church will meet on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Harry Wilson, 31 North Tenth street. Miss Robinson will be the leader, and will direct the class through the study of "Militarism, Reaction and Liberalism," Chapter 2, of "Creative forces in Japan."

PRAISES THE BIBLE

Evangelist Anderson Terms It God's Love Letter to His Children on Earth

(Contributed)

To those who have attended the lectures at Gardner's hall the past three nights the Bible is becoming a far sweeter and more precious treasure. 'God's' love letter to His children on earth,' Mr. Anderson said last evening. Reading from an old clipping, he said:

"This book contains the mind of God; the state of man; the way of salvation; the doom of sinners; and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy; its precepts are binding; its histories are true and its decisions are immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe; and practise it to be holy. It contains light to direct you; food to sustain you and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler's map; the pilot's compass; the soldier's sword and the Christian's charter. Here paradise is restored; heaven opened; and the gates of hell disclosed. Christ is its supreme subject; our good its design and the glory of God its end. It should fill the memory, rule the heart, and guide the feet. It is a paradise of glory, a mine of wealth, a river of pleasure. It is given in life, will be opened at the judgment, and be remembered forever. Read it frequently, slowly, carefully, prayerfully; it involves the highest responsibilities, rewards the greatest labor and condemns all who trifle with its holy contents."

"These words express my position on the Bible," said Mr. Anderson.

Evangelist N. J. Aalberg will be the speaker on Thursday evening. His topic for that evening, "Heaven—Where Will It Be. Is It a Real Place? Will the Redeemed Know Each Other There?" Mr. and Mrs. Aalborg have spent fourteen years outside of United States in gospel mission work. The subject will be illustrated by beautiful slides.

NOTICE

In order that those who desire sprinkling and flushing of streets in the residence districts may have such service, the City Council has made arrangements for such service upon the condition that the residents along any street desiring such service petition the council for such service, stating in their petition that they agree to pay the sum of three (3) cents a front foot to defray the cost of same. SPORTS

COBB BELONGS ON HONOR ROLL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Nov. 7.—As a matter of fairness, in addition to the motive of making it historically accurate, baseball heads should not start with the year 1922 in memorializing the outstanding heroes of baseball.

The American League is about to erect a monument to the national game in the national park at Washington. This monument will display prominently a tablet upon which is to be inscribed the star players of the league.

The first name on the monument will be that of George Sisler, the great first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, who was voted the most valuable player of the American League for the 1922 season.

Below the name of the Brown star will appear that of Babe Ruth, the great Yankee outfielder, who received the highest possible votes as 1923's most valuable player.

There is no reason why the names of those two great players should not appear on a monument which is designed to hand down to posterity the record and fame of the game's outstanding stars.

Sisler, beyond doubt is, or has been, one of baseball's greatest players; and Ruth, if not the greatest of them all, surely has been the most spectacular.

However, there are reasons too obvious to mention and too numerous to recount why the list should not start with the star of 1922.

If the United States government should decide to erect a national monument as a memorial to its great war leaders, it most certainly would not start with General Pershing. It would not head the list of foremost statesmen with the outstanding national figure of 1922. It would not pass by the name of Lincoln simply because the appropriation for the monument and the motive which inspired it came after his day.

The American League monument never will live up to the purpose for which it was designed if its tablet does not bear the name of Ty Cobb.

Memory and the record books are not necessary to recall the deeds of the great Cobb, whose record over a long stretch of years is the greatest in baseball.

Technically, the American League board of directors might feel that it has not the province to dig into the past and pull out dusty names for embellishment, but it does not have to go down deep in the archives for proof of Cobb's right to a ranking with the greatest of all stars.

It is safe to assert that if the question of Cobb's right to a place on the tablet would be put to a vote of every baseball writer in the country, Cobb's name would get on the tablet without a negative ballot.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Leopardess"

Suppose you were taken from your home town and forced to live among the Esquimos in Alaska or Iceland? That would be about as bad as the fate that befalls Alice Brady in her latest Paramount stellar production, "The Leopardess," which will open at the Lyceum Theatre tonight for a two days' run. As Tiare, a South Sea half-caste girl, Miss Brady is married to an American adventurer. Against her will, he takes her back home with him and presents her to his friends prominent in high society. Events of the most dramatic description follow in quick sequence. How the girl met the man she really loves and gains her freedom through the vengeful act of a leopardess whom her husband vainly sought to tame, is graphically told. Edward Langford plays opposite the star and heads an excellent supporting cast which includes Montagu Love, Charles Kent, George Beranger, Marguerite Forrest and Glorie Eller.

Strong Cast in New Play at the New Park Tonight and Thursday

An exceptionally strong cast will be seen in the Edward Sloman production, "The Last Hour," to be presented at the New Park Theatre tonight and Thursday. This is one of the big features released by Mastodon Films, Inc., who were responsible for such successes as "Secrets of Paris," "Burn 'Em Up Barnes" and "Sure Fire Flint," all produced by C. C. Burr.

Milton Sills and Carmel Meyers are the featured players in "The Last Hour" and both have long been recognized as stars of the first water. Milton Sills is seen as a reformed crook, a man who, brought up in a bad environment, has managed to actualy go straight.

It is safe to say that "The Last Hour" is a motion picture that few will care to miss seeing. The management of the New Park Theatre consider themselves fortunate in being able to present this feature to their patrons. The first showing of "The Last Hour" will be at the New Park tonight and again Thursday.

Vaudeville at the New Park Tonight and Thursday Two High Class Acts. Regular Prices

Tonight and Thursday the New Park will offer in conjunction with the regular picture program two acts of vaudeville direct from engagements in the Twin Cities. Eddie Russell heads the bill with a clog and novelty dancing act. Eddie also sings and does a comedy monologue. Dunn & Dunn "The American Songbirds," will please, singing all late and popular numbers. There will be no advance in prices. This is to be our treat.

Mr. J. L. Rush, Carpenter, of 724 4th Avenue, Tells of An Interesting Experience

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxius sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Brainerd man:

"My kidneys were giving me some trouble and the pain and misery I was in was intense," says Mr. Rush. "When I laid down I was bothered quite a bit and could get little rest. My kidneys bothered me at night and mornings I was stiff and sore across the small of my back. I had a steady, dull ache across my kidneys day and night. My kidneys acted frequently and the secretions were highly colored. I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me so I could get back to work again, feeling as well as ever."

USING PERMANENT ARTIFICIAL BLINDS

CHIEF GAME WARDEN D. A. PETERSON SENDS OPINION TO HAROLD KALLAND

Acceding to a request for information made by Harold Kalland of the Brainerd Gun club and which is of interest to all sportsmen, Chief Game Warden D. A. Peterson has transmitted this opinion of the Attorney General given on August 30, 1923:

Game and Fish—Water Fowl—Use of Permanent Artificial Blinds

Hon. J. F. Gould,
Game and Fish Commissioner,
St. Paul, Minnesota.
Dear Sir:

In your letter of August 29th, addressed to Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton, you refer to Section 62 of the law relating to wild animals, as amended by Chapter 426, Laws 1923, which reads:

"Water fowl may be taken during the open season from the land, from a stationary blind used to conceal the hunter, and from a boat or canoe propelled by paddle, oar or pole (other than a sail or power boat) when the same is within a natural growth of weeds, rushes, flags or other vegetation, or in pursuit of wounded birds, but may not be taken from power or sail boats or upon the open water, or from aeroplanes, or from sink boxes or permanent artificial blinds built in public waters."

and you ask to be advised what constitutes "a permanent artificial blind built in public waters," within the meaning of said section.

The blackfaced portion of the law quoted above was incorporated by an amendment adopted by the 1923 legislature. Formerly only stationary blinds could be used. Floating blinds, sink boats, sunken barrels and other similar devices were expressly prohibited. Sections 4781 and 4782, G. S. 1913. When the game laws were codified the use of stationary blinds was expressly permitted. Section 62, Chapter 400, Laws 1919. That section authorized the taking of water fowl, (1) from the land; (2) from a stationary blind used to conceal the hunter; (3) from a boat when located within a natural growth of vegetation, and specifically prohibited the taking thereof from (1) power or sail boats; (2) upon the open water; and (3) from aeroplanes. Section 62, referred to above, has been considered by this department before. Prior to the 1923 amendment, we conceived the legislative purpose to have been to compel the partial concealment of all hunters shooting water fowl. See opinions 570 and 571, Attorney General's report 1920. Under the old law, permanent blinds were not forbidden. It was lawful for a hunter to construct a blind of concrete or iron or other durable material, if properly located within a natural growth of vegetation. Such blind could normally be used year after year. We believe the legislature intended by the 1923 amendment to prohibit the shooting of water fowl from blinds of this character.

Inasmuch as the legislature has not defined the meaning of the expression "permanent artificial blinds built in public waters," we must construe these words in their ordinary popular sense. A reference to the dictionary is not helpful. We find from that source that "permanent" means fixed or unchanging and is the antonym of temporary, and that "artificial" means something constructed or manufactured by art as oposed to something produced by nature. It hardly seems necessary or desirable to manufacture a definition of this expression and to undertake the application thereof to various types of blinds which you anticipate may be used. We construe this new prohibition, however, as follows:

1. A hunter may lawfully use a stationary blind constructed of temporary material and located within a natural growth of vegetation on the water.

2. He may not use a floating blind anywhere on the water, inasmuch as only stationary blinds are permitted.

3. He may not use a blind constructed of any durable lasting material, which is normally susceptible of use year after year regardless of where such blind is located on the water.

4. "Public water" does not mean water which is navigable in fact or water which has been meandered. If the water under consideration is susceptible of a beneficial public use for fishing, fowling and boating and is the source of a supply of ice, it is public. Erickson vs. County of Sibley, 142, Minn. 37. The capability of use by the public for such purposes affords the true criterion.

Yours truly,
Signed, ROLLIN L. SMITH,
Assistant Attorney General.

Looks like some of the fellows would have to go some to get out of the "cellar" division does'nt it? Yes the county troops are in the race, but we did not get their score in time to make it up with this list but will have them in the next time.

Well the shower is over so what say that we get out of this stuffy place and into the air. Oh, yes, who thinks that they have identified that flock of birds we saw last week? All wrong so far, any more? Grosbeaks? Well, that don't tell just what we want to know. There are blue, cardinal, evening, pine and rose-breasted grosbeaks—which one was it that we saw? I see old "John Burroughs" smiling aver there, maybe he knows. Evening grosbeaks, say he, and righto, say I. Now that, that is settled let's see what will be next. Last week I started to tell you about how Raggy got that "bum" ear. You see he was like most youngsters, thought he know a lot about taking care of himself and that he did not have to listen to what his parents told him.

It seems that every animal has his arch enemies who are waiting for a chance to "get" them, and Raggy was no exception to the rule. While we were out at Camp Pug-O-Na-Ge-Shig last Saturday I saw one of "the little people of the woods" make a "getaway" from one of his enemies, and if he had not learned his lesson well he would not have been able to do so.

Now, one day when Raggy was out taking a few lessons in woodcraft from his mother———. Say, before I forget it, there is another thing to be brought up today. How many of you fellows got your "Scouting for November? All but two. And you two were not at the last troop meeting were you? We print enough copies to go all around but when you don't come to the meetings you don't get yours, and at the next meeting they are forgotten, and so you don't get the news of what is going on. I think that next issue we will put the responsibility of delivery up to the Patrol Leader, sending him by mail enough copies for his patrol, then if he don't deliver them to you it will place him in a position to be "called on the carpet." In this way there wil be no "alibi" for any scout, when he fails to show up for some assignment, by saying that he did not know about it.

Well, here it is the time for us to "hit the old scout trail" for home. Next week I think that I will be able to tell you about a little surprise that is coming, so all of you try and be on hand early, and bring your "eats" along for we are going to have a little camp-fire "stunt." Everybody ready? Away we go.

BASKETBALL TEAM SERVES SUPPER

The M. E. basketball boys served supper to 250 people in the social rooms of the First Methodist church on Tuesday evening. This was a benefit supper to raise funds for financing the team's program for this season, and was a wonderful success from every point of view.

The church parlors were highly decorated in blue and white, the team's colors. A very fine meal was prepared and served with the assistance of the ladies of the church, whose help was greatly appreciated by the team.

Manager Fitzsimmons takes his quintet to Pequot on Friday, Nov. 9, where they will play the high school team of that town. An account of the game will be given on the sports page of the Dispatch the next day.

About 15 of the M. E. boys have been practicing strenuously the past two weeks, and it may be possible to put several teams in the field before the season is over.

COBB BELONGS ON HONOR ROLL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Nov. 7.—As a matter of fairness, in addition to the motive of making it historically accurate, baseball heads should not start with the year 1922 in memorializing the outstanding heroes of baseball.

The American League is about to erect a monument to the national game in the national park at Washington. This monument will display prominently a tablet upon which is to be inscribed the star players of the league.

The first name on the monument will be that of George Sisler, the great first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, who was voted the most valuable player of the American League for the 1922 season.

Below the name of the Brown star will appear that of Babe Ruth, the great Yankee outfielder, who received the highest possible votes as 1923's most valuable player.

There is no reason why the names of those two great players should not appear on a monument which is designed to hand down to posterity the record and fame of the game's outstanding stars.

Sisler, beyond doubt is, or has been, one of baseball's greatest players; and Ruth, if not the greatest of them all, surely has been the most spectacular.

However, there are reasons too obvious to mention and too numerous to recount why the list should not start with the star of 1922.

If the United States government should decide to erect a national monument as a memorial to its great war leaders, it most certainly would not start with General Pershing. It would not head the list of foremost statesmen with the outstanding national figure of 1922. It would not pass by the name of Lincoln simply because the appropriation for the monument and the motive which inspired it came after his day.

The American League monument never will live up to the purpose for which it was designed if its tablet does not bear the name of Ty Cobb.

Memory and the record books are not necessary to recall the deeds of the great Cobb, whose record over a long stretch of years is the greatest in baseball.

Technically, the American League board of directors might feel that it has not the province to dig into the past and pull out dusty names for embellishment, but it does not have to go down deep in the archives for proof of Cobb's right to a ranking with the greatest of all stars.

It is safe to assert that if the question of Cobb's right to a place on the tablet would be put to a vote of every baseball writer in the country, Cobb's name would get on the tablet without a negative ballot.

Acceding to a request for information made by Harold Kalland of the Brainerd Gun club and which is of interest to all sportsmen, Chief Game Warden D. A. Peterson has transmitted this opinion of the Attorney General given on August 30, 1923:

Game and Fish—Water Fowl—Use of Permanent Artificial Blinds

Looks like some of the fellows would have to go some to get out of the "cellar" division does'nt it? Yes the county troops are in the race, but we did not get their score in time to make it up with this list but will have them in the next time.

Well the shower is over so what say that we get out of this stuffy place and into the air. Oh, yes, who thinks that they have identified that flock of birds we saw last week? All wrong so far, any more? Grosbeaks? Well, that don't tell just what we want to know. There are blue, cardinal, evening, pine and rose-breasted grosbeaks—which one was it that we saw? I see old "John Burroughs" smiling aver there, maybe he knows. Evening grosbeaks, say he, and righto, say I. Now that, that is settled let's see what will be next. Last week I started to tell you about how Raggy got that "bum" ear. You see he was like most youngsters, thought he know a lot about taking care of himself and that he did not have to listen to what his parents told him.

It seems that every animal has his arch enemies who are waiting for a chance to "get" them, and Raggy was no exception to the rule. While we were out at Camp Pug-O-Na-Ge-Shig last Saturday I saw one of "the little people of the woods" make a "getaway" from one of his enemies, and if he had not learned his lesson well he would not have been able to do so.

Now, one day when Raggy was out taking a few lessons in woodcraft from his mother———. Say, before I forget it, there is another thing to be brought up today. How many of you fellows got your "Scouting for November? All but two. And you two were not at the last troop meeting were you? We print enough copies to go all around but when you don't come to the meetings you don't get yours, and at the next meeting they are forgotten, and so you don't get the news of what is going on. I think that next issue we will put the responsibility of delivery up to the Patrol Leader, sending him by mail enough copies for his patrol, then if he don't deliver them to you it will place him in a position to be "called on the carpet." In this way there wil be no "alibi" for any scout, when he fails to show up for some assignment, by saying that he did not know about it.

Well, here it is the time for us to "hit the old scout trail" for home. Next week I think that I will be able to tell you about a little surprise that is coming, so all of you try and be on hand early, and bring your "eats" along for we are going to have a little camp-fire "stunt." Everybody ready? Away we go.

BASKETBALL TEAM SERVES SUPPER

The M. E. basketball boys served supper to 250 people in the social rooms of the First Methodist church on Tuesday evening. This was a benefit supper to raise funds for financing the team's program for this season, and was a wonderful success from every point of view.

The church parlors were highly decorated in blue and white, the team's colors. A very fine meal was prepared and served with the assistance of the ladies of the church, whose help was greatly appreciated by the team.

Manager Fitzsimmons takes his quintet to Pequot on Friday, Nov. 9, where they will play the high school team of that town. An account of the game will be given on the sports page of the Dispatch the next day.

About 15 of the M. E. boys have been practicing strenuously the past two weeks, and it may be possible to put several teams in the field before the season is over.
